YOUR HERITAGE

“It’s very important for people to know who they are. If you don’t know who you are, how can you explain that? You feel you don’t belong anywhere. You are lost, you are in the middle of the world but you have no culture, no background. But if you know who you are and you pass that to your children, and they pass it to their children, then that makes us a strong community, and strong people, knowing who we are”.
